Memphis Botanic Garden Is Pleased to Host Two Holiday Concerts This December

Memphis Botanic Garden (MBG) will host two indoor holiday concerts as part of its Holiday Wonders at the Garden schedule in 2021. This year's full schedule features a 22 night run and includes more special nights than ever before. Alongside these favorite nights and new additions, two Season of Song concert experiences are sure to bring cheer and get the community into the spirit of the season this December.

Scott Moore & the Memphis Symphony Big Band will perform on December 5, and John Angotti: Hope and Healing for Christmas will follow on December 19. Both concerts run 4-5:30 pm and include admission into Holiday Wonders at the Garden following the performance.

The Memphis Symphony Orchestra is dedicated to enriching the lives of our diverse community through exceptional music and dynamic programs. Scott Moore is the Principal Trumpeter of the Memphis Symphony Orchestra and Band Leader of the Memphis Symphony Big Band. Learn more about the Memphis Symphony Orchestra at memphissymphony.org.

John Angotti is the Director of Music and Liturgy at St. Philip Catholic Church in Franklin, TN, as well as a full time music missionary. John's collection of experiences as Director of Children's, Young Adults, Adults, and Contemporary Music Choirs, as well as his experiences in the secular world, have prepared him for his full time music ministry. "We are pleased to extend our music season with these two family-friendly, indoor concerts," said Michael Allen, Executive Director of the Memphis Botanic Garden. "Guests may enjoy the warmth and intimacy of these afternoon performances in our Hardin Hall and then walk outdoors afterward to marvel at the beauty of our light displays and enjoy family fun activities,” said Allen.

Season of Song Concerts are $20 per person and include Holiday Wonders at the Garden admission. Tickets are on sale now. Please visit Ticketmaster.com or use your Ticketmaster App to purchase tickets. Performances are inside the Garden’s event space Hardin Hall and will be held rain or shine.

All proceeds directly support the Memphis Botanic Garden.

Holiday Wonders at the Garden is sponsored by Adams Keegan, Yuletide Office Solutions, Crews Family Foundation, Lipscomb & Pitts Insurance, Legacy Wealth Management, Forever Ready Productions, Daily Memphian, and 104.5 The River.
